KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Jan. 30.—The Waukegan bank of Johnson City was closed yesterday and its cashier, F. B. St. John, is named as trustee. The liabilities are $28,000, assets nearly $94,000. Loss of depositors and bad collections are the cause of the trouble.

Stolen Property Recovered.

SENATE AND HOUSE

Decisive Vote on the Monetary Conference Bill.

HOAR'S NOTEWORTHY SPEECH.

Morgan Will Push the Nicaragua Canal Bill Next Monday—The House Rejects the Conference Report on the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad—Nineteen Private Pension Bills Passed.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—By the decisive vote of 40 to 4 the senate yesterday passed the bill for the appointment of commissioners to an international monetary conference. The closing of the debate brought out several notable speeches, including those of Messrs. Hoar, Vilas, Jones of Arkansas, Gorman, Allison and Carter. It disclosed that little opposition existed against the bill, the only division being as to the expediency of seeking bimetalism through international agreement. As voicing the general view on the Democratic side of the chamber, Mr. Jones and Mr. Gorman favored the adoption of the measure exactly as Republican senators desired, in order that the responsibility might be theirs.

Mr. Hoar's speech attracted attention as one of the most noteworthy utterances of the veteran senator made in recent days. He spoke of his observations in Europe during last summer, his agreeable discussions with Messieurs Melne and Bourgeois in Paris and Mr. Balfour in London on the advance of bimetalism. Mr. Hoar expressed the conviction that the four great nations—the United States, Great Britain, France and Germany—were fast and inevitably tending toward a bimetallic agreement.

During the day Mr. Morgan, failing to secure an agreement for a vote on the Nicaragua canal bill, announced that it would be urged to a conclusion Monday. The senate adjourned until Monday.

HOUSE PROCEEDINGS.

Conference Report on the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Bill Rejected.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—The house yesterday witnessed another exciting and somewhat sensational episode. At the end of an acrimonious debate on the conference report on the bill to confer the rights and franchises of the Atlantic and Pacific railroad on the purchasers under the mortgage foreclosure. Mr. Powers of Vermont and Mr. Barrett of Massachusetts, exchanged broadsides. The house then by a vote of 71 to 148, rejected the report of the conference and directed the house conferees to insist on the house amendments. Instructions were also given to the conferees to insist on an amendment making the new corporation liable for all the debts of the old company existing 12 months prior to the appointment of the receiver. The remainder of the day was spent in the discussion of the agricultural appropriation bill. The house took a recess until 8 o'clock, when 19 private pension bills were favorably considered in committee of the whole.

Senator George's Condition.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—The condition of Senator George of Mississippi was not so encouraging yesterday as it has been for several days past. He became somewhat worse and his physicians were summoned. Although they do not think there is cause for immediate alarm they are concerned over the senator's condition, and notified the family of the change. The senator is no longer able to sit up in his invalid chair, but remains in bed.

Senator Butler Returns.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—Senator Marion Butler of North Carolina, chairman of the Populists' National committee, has returned from Raleigh and made his first appearance in the senate yesterday after his effort to defeat the reelection of Senator Pritchard. He assured those with whom he conversed that he did not feel in the least dismayed by his failure and asserted that his fight had just begun.

Judge Fearn Ill in Egypt.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—The state department has been informed by cable of the critical illness at his post in Cairo, Egypt, of Judge Fearn, the American representative on the court of first instance of the international tribunal of Egypt.

Guarding Against the Plague.
NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—While there is believed to be little danger of the introduction of the bubonic plague in this country from any source the health authorities of this port are determined that all precautions shall be taken to avoid an epidemic such as is now devastating Bombay. To that end all mails from that or any other plague-infected port are to be subjected to a thorough fumigation.

Goff Said to Prefer the Bench.
CHARLESTON, W. Va., Jan. 30.—A very close friend of Judge Nathan Goff says that the latter has declined the attorney generalship in McKinley's cabinet offered him last week. He prefers to remain on the bench as district United States judge. A well founded rumor is abroad that Goff will be a candidate to succeed Senator Charles James Faulkner two years from now.

Prominent Missourian Dead.
ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Jan. 30.—Judge Lafayette Dawson, one of the most prominent attorneys in Missouri, is dead at his home in Marysville. Judge Dawson was born in Illinois in 1839. He was an elector on the Tilden and Hendricks ticket in 1876. President Cleveland appointed him judge of Alaska in 1885, but he resigned in 1888. His death was caused by cancer.

Rothchilds Purchase the "Tom Boy."
NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—The "Tom Boy" mine of Colorado was formally bought yesterday by the Rothchilds of London. The price given was $1,500,000. The purchasing agent was the Exploration company of London, which is the name of the mining branches of the Rothchild investment bureau.

La Grippe
If you have had the Grippe, you know its aches and pains, the fever, the chills, the cough, the depression—you know them all. The Grippe exhausts the nervous system quickly, lowers the vitality. Two things should be done at once:—the body must be strengthened, and force must be given to the nervous system. Cod-liver Oil will do the first; Hyphosphites the second. These are permanently and pleasantly combined in Scott's Emulsion. It lifts the despondency and heals the inflamed membranes of the throat and lungs. But you need not have LA GRIPPE. You can put your system in a condition unfavorable to it. You can have rich, red blood; resistive strength; steady brain and nerves. Scott's Emulsion prevents as well as cures. And whether you send or go for Scott's Emulsion, be sure you get the genuine.

MCKINLEY'S BIRTHDAY.

The Major Received Many Congratulatory Telegrams.

CANTON, O., Jan. 30.—Governor McKinley was 54 yesterday, Jan. 29, and is consequently of about the same age as the majority of the presidents at the time of their inauguration. Fourteen were older than he and nine younger.

Many congratulatory telegrams reached Major McKinley, including a loving message from his wife from Chicago, and it was doubtless gratifying to him to dine this evening, as he did, with his venerable mother, now nearly 88, a pleasure that has only been vouchsafed under similar circumstances to two of the presidents.

Cleveland Addresses the Doctors.
NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—The occasion of the celebration of the semicentennial of the New York Academy of Medicine at Carnegie hall last night was made auspicious by the presence of President Cleveland, who arrived in this city early in the evening. The president was invited to attend the celebration by Dr. Joseph D. Bryant, who is president of the Academy of Medicine and also Mr. Cleveland's private physician. The president delivered an address which created much merriment and good feeling.

BLAZE AT THE DENISON.
The Big Hotel Badly Damaged by Fire Last Night.

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 30.—About 6 o'clock last night a telephone message was sent to the headquarters of the fire department that there was a fire at the Denison House. The department quickly responded to the call. On its arrival it was discovered that the fourth floor in the north end of the hotel was in flames, which speedily spread to the floors above. Guests were hurrying about excitedly, removing their baggage, while they were almost suffocated by smoke. Fortunately all escaped, although some of them lost their belongings. The fire originated from a defective grate flue.

When the department arrived the water tower, which the city purchased only a few weeks ago for thousands of dollars, was brought forward and, as the firemen were raising it, it toppled over and was badly broken, thus delaying the department in doing effective work.

From 25 to 30 rooms are badly damaged, mostly by water, and the loss is between $20,000 and $25,000 on the hotel alone. The loss to guests could not be learned.

TRAIN HELD UP.
Robbers Capture the San Francisco Express but Do Not Get Much Booty.

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 30.—The north-bound overland train, which left San Francisco Wednesday, was held up yesterday two miles east of Roseburg, Ore. The train was tied up by two or three men. The express car was detached from the train by the robbers and the door blown open with dynamite. Two small safes in the car were blown open, and looted. The express car then took fire. The conductor and trainmen tried hard to save the car after the robbers had gone, but the car and contents were destroyed.

The robbers did not understand opening the big safe and consequently got little booty from the express car. They visited the mail car and carried off all the registered letters.

GOVERNOR SIGNED IT.
Bill Which Permits Fitzsimmons and Corbett to Fight Now a Law.

CARSON, Nev., Jan. 30.—Assembly bill No. 8, intended to permit Corbett and Fitzsimmons to fight in this state, is now a law, the governor having signed it. When asked last night if he had ever had any thought of vetoing it, Governor Sadler replied: "I wanted to see what a majority of the people seemed to want, intending to be entirely guided by their wishes. This policy I have pursued to the end and because the people were in favor of the bill I signed it. Of the merits in argument made against the glove contest bill I have nothing to say. A majority of our citizens seem to wish it and I have signed it. That is all there is to it."

Appearances are what attract the opposite sex. Some times this seems a pity. It seems as if it would be juster if a fine mind was the attraction instead of a fine face and figure. But you can't change human nature. When you come to understand it there is a sort of justice about it too, because although we can't all be handsome, almost every one of us can add at least 50 per cent. to his or her attractiveness by a little attention to the laws of beauty. When the eyes are dull, the lips pallid, the skin sallow, blotchy or pimply, the figure thin and wasted, or overcast and ungraceful, the trouble is something more than mere outward appearance; the inner condition is wrong; the blood is poor; it lacks the pure nourishing qualities which are needed to vitalize and invigorate the body. In this case physical activity is largely a question of pure, rich, red blood.

You can't have sparkling eyes, red lips, a clear rose complexion and a graceful symmetrical figure while the blood remains impure and impoverished. What is needed is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery to cleanse foul humors out of the blood, and help the assimilative organism to enrich the circulation with an abundance of healthy red corpuscles, creating fresh color and firm, wholesome flesh. All this is attractiveness, and something more—health.

Every woman will be healthier and happier for following the friendly, practical counsel contained in Dr. Pierce's great universal doctor book, "The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser." It is the most comprehensive medical work in one volume in the English language. It contains 100 pages, fully illustrated. 680,000 copies have been sold at 6c each bound in cloth. The profits are now used in printing 100,000,000 copies bound in strong manila paper covers. To get one you have only to send a one-cent stamp (to pay cost of mailing only), to World's Dispensary Medical Association, No. 636 Main Street, Little Rock, Ark.

Shot His Brother and Sister.
RED BUD, Ills., Jan. 30.—Eddie Hoshman, 8 years old, was playing with a shotgun and pointed it at his brother and sister, threatening to shoot them. The gun was discharged and tore the little girl's shoulder and arm nearly off and lodged in the shoulder and breast of her little brother. The wounded children are aged 6 and 4 years, respectively. The girl may die, but it is thought the boy will recover.

GENERAL R. A. ALGER

He Is Selected by McKinley For Secretary of War.

HIS RELATIONS WITH SHERMAN.

Refuses to Discuss the Policy of the New Administration—Says None of the Subordinate Positions in His Department Have Been Disposed of—Sketch of the General's Life.

CANTON, O., Jan. 30.—"I have been tendered and have accepted the war portfolio." Thus spoke General Russell A. Alger of Michigan last yesterday. The general had just emerged from the south parlor, which is the conference room while Mrs. McKinley is out of the city. He and Major McKinley had just completed the interview in which the formal tender and acceptance was passed. Without saying anything more on the subject the general turned to several callers awaiting an audience with Major McKinley and then re-entered the parlor, where he remained until train time, when he returned to Cleveland to renew his conference with National Chairman Hanna, and will go thence to his home in Detroit.

In a conversation at the station the general said that at no time before yesterday had Major McKinley said anything directly or indirectly to him on the subject. The general said that none of the appointments of his department had yet been disposed of or decided upon, and that it would be some time before any announcements in that line could be made.

The policy of the administration, he said, has not been considered, but even if it had, he was too much of a soldier to announce the policy of his superiors. He also confirmed Senator Burrows' statement that the relations between himself and Senator Sherman are entirely pleasant, and that the cabinet associations will be harmonious and all branches of the administration in accord.

Captain Heistand of the Seventh regiment, O. N. G., who, while on furlough, was attached to the McKinley household, was first in his congratulations to the new head of the war department. He said: "You are now my chief. Allow me to congratulate you as my superior officer."

General Russell A. Alger was born in Medina county, Ohio, Feb. 27, 1838. His grandfather served in the revolutionary war and is claimed to have been a descendant of William the Conqueror. When 11 years of age both his parents died. For the next seven years he worked on a farm, earning money to defray his expenses at the Richmond, Ohio, academy during the winter. Subsequently he taught school and in March, 1857, entered a law office in Akron. Two years later he was admitted to the bar and became connected with the law office of Otis & Coffinbury in Cleveland, and abandoned the practice of law and moved to Grand Rapids, Mich., where he engaged in the lumber business, and where in 1861 he was married to Annette H. Henry.

In 1861 Alger enlisted in the second Michigan cavalry and was made captain. He was wounded in the battle of Booneville, Miss. Owing to his part in this engagement he was promoted to the rank of major. In 1862 he became lieutenant colonel of the Sixth Michigan cavalry and in 1863 was made colonel of the Fifth Michigan cavalry, his regiment being in Custer's famous brigade. In 1864 his health induced him to retire from the service.

Wholesale Trading For January Smaller Than For Years.
NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—Bradstreet today says: There has been a falling off in general trade owing to the heavy snow fall and cold weather. There is a moderate increase in distribution of heavy winter goods, but commercial travelers very generally report buyers as even more conservative than earlier in the month and that wholesale trading in January, except in lines specified, is smaller than for years. Mercantile collections are interrupted and the improvement looked for in iron and steel is not in sight.

The most favorable feature of the business week is the sudden and sharp falling off in the total number of business failures in the United States, the aggregate being 326 as compared with 429 last week, a decrease of 102. When compared with the corresponding week of 1896 this week's falling off is 67, but there is an increase of 14 as compared with the like week in 1895.

The downward movement of prices for some of the more important staples continues conspicuous notably for flour, wheat, oats, lard, coffee, petroleum, turpentine and tin plate. Quotations for Indian corn, pork, sugar, cotton and print clothes are practically unchanged.

SIX PEOPLE INJURED.
Sleighriders Upset and One Probably Fatally Hurt.

WINCHESTER, O., Jan. 30.—While a party of young people from here were returning from a dance in a 2-horse farmstead, prepared for the occasion, the horses took fright at a cow by the roadside, upsetting the occupants and injuring six persons very badly. The injured are:

James Witherhead, collarbone broken, Stacie Hemphill, arm broken and internal injuries.

Abe Fuller, leg broken.

Ella Snodgrass, hip dislocated.

Lizzie Palmer, knee dislocated.

James Ponderdorf, fracture of the skull.

It is feared by physicians that Ponderdorf cannot recover.

DYNAMITE EXPLOSION.
Three Supply Houses Demolished and Two Men Injured.

HAZLETON, Pa., Jan. 30.—Two thousand pounds of dynamite exploded at the Crystal Ridge colliery near here. Three supply houses were demolished, the side of the breaker torn out and the engine house destroyed. Watchman Rickert and Engineer Yeager were buried in the debris, the former being fatally injured. The explosion was plainly felt in this city, many windows being broken by the shock. The explosion is said to have been the work of traps.

Weather.
Indiana and Illinois—Generally fair. Ohio—Generally fair, except light local snows on the lakes; warmer in southern portion.

To Prison For Arcson.
NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—Adolph Meyer pleaded guilty yesterday to setting fire to the tenement house in East 113th street about two weeks ago and was sentenced to serve 20 years in state's prison. The fire endangered the lives of 88 occupants of the building.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

Celebrated for its great leavening strength and healthfulness. Assures the food against all forms of adulteration common to the cheap brands.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., NEW YORK.

He was brevetted brigadier and major general for "gallant and meritorious services," and was in private service in 1863 and 1864, receiving orders personally from President Lincoln.

In 1865 he removed to Detroit, where he has since been extensively engaged in lumber and pine land business.

General Alger was elected governor of Michigan in 1884 over Begole (fusionist), and in 1888 was one of the leading candidates for the presidential nomination. The acrimony developed between the workers of Alger and Senator Sherman, who was also a candidate, was intense, and it is believed the breach caused thereby has only been recently healed.

General Alger served one term as commander-in-chief of the G. A. R.

Sick Headache.

Neuralgia and Extreme Nervousness.

EVER since I was eighteen years old until I learned of Dr. Miles' Restorative Remedies, I suffered from sick headache and extreme nervousness and dyspepsia. In time heart disease developed. I was treated by several doctors with no relief. Severe palpitation with pain in left breast, shortness of breath, and smothering spells made me most miserable. I procured Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine and New Heart Cure and took them alternately as directed. Improvement began at once and increased so rapidly that in six months I increased thirty six pounds in weight. All pain in the heart is gone, and the nervousness has wholly left me."

PRESIDENT HARRISON'S last message contained the statement that $40,570,467 had been paid on the national debt. Cleveland doesn't show any such record but the incoming administration will probably renew business in that line.

The ways and means committee last night discussed the matter of appropriations for the state institutions. The general feeling was that the appropriations should not be increased. This is right. These institutions have shown that they can be carried on liberally with the amounts appropriated two years ago, by careful and economical management and that is what the taxpayers of the state want.

The selection of General Alger for secretary of war will give general satisfaction. He has a good record as a Union soldier and is a man of business affairs. In 1884 he was elected governor of Michigan and his administration was regarded as highly successful. He has served one term as commander-in-chief of the G. A. R. and is highly respected by the veterans and by his friends in Michigan. His campaigning tour with the generals' party last fall brought him prominently before many of our people.

PRESIDENT-ELECT McKinley's cabinet making has been closely watched by the people all over the country. It is evident that he is making his own cabinet and that he is doing it so as to give the country an administration that will command the respect and confidence of the people. The selection of a cabinet is the first opportunity the public has to judge of the president's ability and judgment by this standard McKinley has met the test remarkably well. His selections made thus far inspire confidence that his administration will be marked by the same high ability.

COMMENTING on the selection of Lyman T. Gage for secretary of the treasury, the Canton Repository says: "Mr. Gage is not only a great financier, but he is in entire accord with Major McKinley on all questions of governmental policy, and will command the attention of congress and the country in the immediate future and during his administration. Easily the foremost citizen of Chicago, no private citizen of Illinois commands such universal respect or possesses in such a marked degree the esteem of the people of Illinois. Although a modest and somewhat retiring citizen, he has nevertheless always been active in public affairs and is well known for his public spirit, broad views and growing liberality. * * * He is a staunch broad-gauged practical business man, and his selection at this juncture is of decided and positive benefit to the country."

McKINLEY'S AMBITION.

Under this caption the Commercial Tribune closes an editorial with the following paragraph:

The upbuilding influence of such an administration is already felt, even before it exists. The people are reassured. Through the whole vast fabric of our industrial life there is extending a justified belief that in a little while there will be at the head of affairs a man with the highest of all human ambitions, the ambition to restore prosperity to the people.

A public library is a potent factor in the progress and improvement of a city. Seymour has made a good beginning and we believe our citizens will give liberal support to the efforts of the committee to still further increase our library facilities.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain no Mercury.

THE STATE UNIVERSITY.

It is a matter of the greatest importance to our legislature should economize in all matters of public expense as far as possible, and as far as is consistent with the public needs and welfare. In doing this it is proper to consider the demands of the state university. This institution requires a large amount of money annually to sustain it, and the demand is increasing. The demand of the present legislature for an additional amount of money is likely to meet with a refusal and it is right too. Under the present condition of educational affairs the question arises as to whether the people of the state have any further need for the state university. It seems that the time has passed when it can longer be a necessity, or even a public convenience.

There are now several colleges and universities in the state where tuition is practically, as free as it is at Bloomington. The faculties of these schools are supported from the proceeds of an endowment fund that has been provided by the friends of these schools. Their buildings and all their scientific apparatus and other equipment have been furnished from the same source. The equipments of these schools is being made better all the time through private donations and bequests and efficiency is becoming greater year by year. There is no lack of opportunities now for the young people of the state to acquire as complete and thorough classical and scientific education in any of these schools as can be had at Bloomington, as free to them as it is at any of the state schools and that too without expense to the already over taxed people of the state.

While it is true these schools are under the management of the various religious denominations, yet it is also true that they are all practically non-sectarian, so far as any attempt made by the faculty or officers of the school to prosel the students of other denominations to their particular creed, or faith, is concerned.

The apology for the further continuance of the State University is that the other schools are all sectarian and we ought to have one non-sectarian school. So far as that is concerned the advocates of a non-sectarian school, one that is strictly so, have an undoubted right to have such a school, but they ought to have one supported by their own private liberality and enterprise, and not call upon the state to support it for them.

As long as Bloomington can resort to the state treasury for funds for support, are to build up and maintain a stupendous school, but if no better practical use, or efficiency than the other schools already in existence in many parts of the state, they operate as a hindrance to the work and development of these other schools.

If there were no other way to keep up a university in our state, where the most liberal and thorough education could be had than to keep it up at the public expense, then no one I suppose would be in favor of withholding the most liberal appropriations for that purpose. But such is not the case now and the time is fully come when further support from the public treasury to the state university at Bloomington should in future be discontinued. As it now is, it is being made an overshadowing veil and competitor of all the other schools in the state, to their great disadvantage, and wish no compensating advantage to the state.

Twelve-Year-Old Boy Throat Head First Into a Red-hot Furnace.

ANDERSON, Ind., Jan. 30.—Peter Able was placed under arrest last night for a horrible deed. He became enraged at Valdisio Kunkowski, his 12-year-old helper at the Pennsylvania glass works, and knocking the boy down, he grabbed him and thrust him headfirst into the furnace, where glass sand was melting under intense heat. He was only held there a moment, but the result was horrible. The boy cannot recover, it is thought. His head, face and chest are cooked and his eyes are in a horrible shape.

OUR MAKERS OF LAW.

Bills on Second Reading Occupy the Attention of Both Houses.

VISIT TO PUBLIC INSTITUTIONS.

Announcement Made That Hereafter Both Branches Will Work Six Days a Week. Committees Report on Several Measures—Amendments Offered to the Barrett Street Improvement Law.

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 30.—After putting in a full day Friday the legislature adjourned until Monday, most of the members devoting today to visits of inspection to the benevolent and educational institutions. The announcement is made that hereafter both branches will remain in session six days a week, though it is not likely that committees will continue their work until midnight every night as they have during the past two weeks. The day in both houses Friday was occupied with second readings and though some bills were killed none were passed.

Much of the time of the house was spent upon dogs and marriages. The dog subject came up when a bill by Mr. Remington overhauling the whole dog tax question so as to make it somewhat more binding was handed down on second reading. Mr. East offered an amendment to the bill striking out the clause that the dog license be advertised. He said this useless provision cost the county of Brown $400 a year. Mr. Belcock, who is a large and successful sheep farmer, wanted an amendment requiring all owners of dogs to keep them inclosed or chained from 9 o'clock at night until daylight. After general discussion the bill was recommitted.

The next discussion arose over Mr. James' bill adding majority of cities to the list of people authorized to solemnize marriages. Mr. East offered an amendment to add notary publics to the list, but the amendment was voted down and the bill engrossed as originally amended.

The house bill permitting boards of trustees of incorporated towns to levy a tax of 50 cents on $100 for the purpose of purchasing waterworks was engrossed and, on motion of the author, it was laid up for passage under suspension of the rules. It seemed strange to some members that a bill of such general importance should go through this stage without discussion and Mr. Smith gave a note of warning and Mr. Harris opposed the bill. Mr. Smith moved a reconsideration of the vote by which the rules were suspended and this was carried by consent and the bill was engrossed.

Among the bills on second reading ordered engrossed was an amendment to the libel law offered by Mr. Blankenship and Mr. Goddard's bill requiring a joint meeting of county commissioners for the construction of a bridge upon county lines.

Committee Reports.

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 30.—Friday was committee day in the house and a number of reports were handed in. The ways and means committee reported upon three bills, for the exemption of mortgage property from taxation, one by Mr. Lambert, another by Butler, and another by Reynolds. All the reports were concurred in by the house. This cleans up the docket for mortgage exemption bills. The judiciary committee reported unfavorably on Mr. Nicholson's divorce bill and it died. It also reported favorably upon Mr. Wair's bill repealing the special verdict law. The railroad committee reported an amendment to Mr. Enet's bill requiring railroad companies to permit connecting switches by any road of a mile or more in length so as to make it 50 miles.

Barrett Law Amendment.

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 30.—An amendment to the Barrett law proposed for cities and towns of less than 10,000 population has been referred to the committee on cities and towns. The amendment contemplates a street improvements must originate by petition of half of the resident property-holders, measured by front-foot ownership.

Medical Measure Concurred In.

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 30.—The senate health committee Friday reported favorably upon the bill drawn by the Indiana Medical society regulating the practice of medicine, creating a state board of medical examiners and licensing physicians and the report was concurred in.

Mechanics Lien Law.

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 30.—Several bills have been introduced in both houses repealing the amendments to the mechanics lien law. The object is to secure a restoration of the old section which required notice before a lien could be filed.

Anti-Football Bill.

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 30.—The house Friday advanced to engrossment without discussion the anti-football bill.

How to Find Out.

Fill a bottle or common water glass with urine and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates a diseased condition of the kidneys. When urine stains linen it is positive evidence of kidney trouble. Too frequent desire to urinate or pain in the back, is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

What to do.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy fulfills every wish in relieving pain in back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passages. It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain passing it or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to get up many times during the night to urinate. The mild and extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists price fifty cents and one dollar. For a sample bottle and pamphlet, both sent free by mail, mention the Seymour Republican, and send your full post-office address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The proprietors of this paper guarantee its genuineness.

MATINEE.

The "South Before the War" Drew a Good Crowd This Afternoon.

The Opera House was well filled this afternoon to the performance of the "South Before the War." The company is a good one and illustrates in a realistic manner southern darkey life as it was in the days of slavery.

The advance sale of seats for the performance to-night has been such as to insure a crowded house. The program will be given in full to-night. Don't miss it.

Given Away.

The biggest bargain ever offered to the people of Jackson county in photographs. With every dozen cabinet photographs taken from and after this 29th day of January, 1897, until further notice is given, we will frame one of them in a fine 8x10 frame of no less than three inch moulding without extra charge and no increase in the price of the photos will be made. Come and see samples of photos and frames.

SUGAR BEETS.

Farmers Urged to Make an Experiment in this Direction.

To Indiana Farmers: The committee appointed by the Farmers' National Congress to investigate and promote the beet-sugar industry respectfully recommend to the farmers of Indiana who have any considerable amount of black, rich land to make a test of the same by the growth of a small plot, say half an acre or less, in sugar beets, weighing and keeping an account of the number of tons their land will produce to the acre, selecting an average sample and sending the same to Purdue University for analysis. There will be no waste of money or time involved in making this experiment, as the beets produced will supply the best and cheapest possible food for stock and especially for milk cows. When these tests are made by the farmers of the state and their results made public we can know whether our lands are well adapted to the production of sugar beets, and, if so, we can secure the location and building of sugar beet factories. None but the imported German and French seed should be used. The average product of beets per acre should be ten to twelve tons, and the price paid by the factories is $5 per ton, giving the farmer $50 to $60 gross and $30 to $40 net per acre for his land. The cost of the beet-sugar factory is very great, not less than $300,000 for a factory that can be operated at a profit, and such investment cannot be secured in such plant until the proposed experiment has been made and it has been thoroughly demonstrated that our land and climate is adapted to the production of beets of sufficient sweetness and in sufficient quantity to render the location of a large factory profitable. The United States is paying France and Germany about $130,000,000 annually for sugar, for the production of which their farmers are receiving $30 to $40 per acre for their land, while we are selling them our wheat and corn at a price which yields us but $5 to $6 per acre for our land. The newspapers of the state are requested to give publicity to this and to urge upon all farmers of the state who have black, rich land to join in this experiment. E. B. MARTINDALE, Member of committee for Indiana.

Stranded.

Henry Reader and family, who were traveling from Kentucky to Seymour and passed through the city Tuesday, night he stopped at the town and picked his team consisting of two mules near his vehicle. While the family slept wrapped in all the clothing they had and while the wintry blasts howled through the blue looking rock of the village the mules disappeared, where they have gone no one knows but Reader believes they became cold and wandered away.—Jeffersonville Journal.

The Gift of Appreciation.

There is, perhaps, no other natural gift that brings so much genuine pleasure to its possessor as does the keen sense of appreciation. It teaches us, or points out to our understanding, the beauties of nature that are all about us, gifts the commonplace, and emphasizes the joys of life and of living. Appealing to us through all our senses, the pleasures that it brings are ceaseless and unending. Seen through appreciative eyes the beauties of life overshadow and eclipse the homely, rough places. There is an attractive side to everything, and this an appreciative mind will see first, and longest remember.—February Ladies Home Journal.

The Advertising Light.

The man who advertises stands before the public in the full, legitimate and dignified prominence of one who is proud of his business, has a right to be proud of it, is doing a lot of it, and wants to do more of it; and he is the kind of man that everybody wants to do business with, for just so long as the moth will be attracted by the candle light, so long will trade swarm around the advertising light of business.

"South Before the War."

Harry Martell's big southern production, the "South Before the War" is entirely different from anything of its kind, that has been produced. The combination of darkies (big and little) numbering fifty people. The performance embraces a great variety of music, camp meeting scene, buck and wing dancing, superb singing by four quartettes, with a chorus of forty voices, a genuine cake walk, which creates one continuous laughter, and a Pickaninny band of seventeen little darkies. To those of the younger generation who have often heard what a plantation was in in ante-bellum days, his play will give a very realistic idea.

TIMES-STAR

IT has the latest and most reliable foreign as well as domestic news; IT has better financial and market reports and more special correspondence than any other Cincinnati newspaper; IT contains twice as much news as any other paper sold at the same price; IT is a family paper, and has the largest home circulation of any paper printed in the Ohio Valley.

McLean's Newspaper.

Single exception, there is no paper in the United States that is not greater or more successful publisher than the Cincinnati Enquirer; the prices for the Daily Enquirer have been maintained, and the circulation has largely increased each year, and the public has a high appreciation of the paper's worth and merit.

The Weekly Enquirer at beginning of campaign year was offered at 50 cents a year, and its circulation increased by the addition of over 100,000 new subscribers; the most substantial and coveted testimonial a publisher could desire.

When asked for the secret of such success, Mr. McLean frankly answers: The Enquirer has no opinions to force upon its patrons, it simply prints the facts and tells the truth that the reader may form his own opinions. By maintaining the price of the paper, more news and greater variety can be furnished, and every class of business is benefited, to which a cheaper price would have been a detriment.

General support given the Enquirer by the public at large, makes it a paper of great value to the management to serve it faithfully with zeal and enterprise in minor matters as well as those of greater magnitude.

BRITISH ELOQUENCE.

A Capital Specimen of the Speeches Made in Local Elections.

The following manifesto, copied verbatim from the original poster, is a capital specimen of election eloquence as applied to parochial contests: "Fellow workmen, gentlemen and ladies, I honorably put myself forward under your very kind notice for a seat on the Swanscombe parish council. Let me tell you as a man that I was the first to give you meat on Galley Hill and Swanscombe and all round. I never did and never will hurt a workman. When times is good, I want to get paid for my very superior food that I always supply, and when times is hard then you can take it at any price you like to feed your wives and children and your families from George Clinch, 'The Peoples only Butcher' in this parish. I shall work hand in hand with the Rev. George Hale to bury the dead at the lowest price and put the poor body deep in mother earth, where they ought to be, and I promise that I shall sell my meat at the same price. I shall also help Mr. Dunbar (for he is an old Toff) to reduce the salaries of clergymen, as it do cost too much for prayers, and we can go up to glory at a less price. I also promise to do more than the last council, for they done nothing, and as Mickey Finn is not standing, but sitting down low, we can do good business and have no Donnybrook fair at our meetings—in fact, gentlemen and ladies, I shall do every mortal thing for the good of your body, and the parson will take care of your departed souls. I shall reduce the rates and get rent for the workmen cheaper. I shall light up your roads so that you can see them upon a dark moonlight night. The last word I say unto you is, do your duty to yourselves and never mind about me, but put me on the council for your own sake and the interest of the men who get bread by the sweat of their brow."—Household Words.

ADOBÉ BUILDINGS. SIMPLE ARCHITECTURE OF MUD HOUSES IN NEW MEXICO.

How the Bricks Are Made—They Have Straw in Them and Are Sun Dried. Dwellings Made in This Way Are Very Durable—A Favorable Climate.

Architectural engineering is a branch of the gentle art of making mud pies in the land where the adobe houses grow. In the land of sunshine, where a rainy day is so rare that it is marked with a red cross, the native contractor and builder wastes no time figuring on the strength of material, the crushing limit of tubular columns and the wind pressure per square foot of elevation. He does not pore over blue prints of plans, cross sections and elevations, nor does he whittle down his figures to the finest point so as to come under some other contractor's bid. He simply rolls his trousers up above his knees, digs down in a favored ditch or pond until he strikes the "dobe mud," and in a short time he is ready to begin constructive operations.

Adobe houses are brick houses, but the brick is sun dried and made with straw. The clay or mud of which the brick is made is a natural cement peculiar to the arid plains of New Mexico, Arizona, Nevada and that belt of states and territories. It is turned out in the most primitive manner, and the blue island brickmaker who might happen upon a half breed or Mexican "dobe" brickmaker would view the operation with amusement or disgust. Kiln burned brick, made of blue clay, however, would not meet the requirements imposed by the climatic conditions of those countries where adobe brick is used.

In summer an adobe house is cool; in winter it is warm. Its thick walls absorb the occasional rain, and, although the sun dried brick is soft compared to the kiln dried article, it does not crumble, and it stands for ages.

A man who recently traveled through New Mexico was much interested in the "dobe" houses. For weeks he inquired and searched for a "dobe" house in the hands of the builders. At length in Santa Fe he stumbled upon a couple of men stamping with their bare feet upon clay in a wooden frame. He inquired and found that he was looking upon two Mexicans making adobe brick. In describing the process he said: "The men actually dug up the 'dole' mud from the bottom of the ditch which skirted the road. They mixed it, or, as we say, 'tempered' it with water until it was of a stiff, clayey consistency. Then they chopped alfalfa hay into short pieces and mixed it with the clay, and their material was ready to make into brick. A wood frame lay on the ground. This frame was filled with the 'dole' mud mixed with hay, and one of the men got into the frame and stamped the mud down with his bare feet, at the same time tamping it with a stick. After the frame was packed hard he scraped the surplus mud off with a stick, so that the top surface was level with the upper edges of the frame, and then lifting the frame from the clay he carried the brick to one side of the road and stood it on its edge. The next brick he made he leaned against the first one, and soon he had a dozen large bricks—each twice as wide and long and thick as an ordinary brick—drying in the sun. One of the men told me that the bricks would be ready to lay in three or four days, and that they used the mud which the bricks are made of for the plaster."

"The walls of an adobe house are very thick, sometimes two or three feet, and in the ordinary one story adobe house, which is characteristic of that region, they are built up perfectly plain until they reach the roof. The roof is supported on wooden beams, laid edgewise on the walls, and the bricks are built up level with the top of the beams between the timbers, leaving the edge of the rafters exposed. The roof has a slight slant, and is made of adobe bricks. When it rains, the water soaks into the roof bricks, but does not begin to drip down into the rooms below until the rain is over. Then the family moves out until the water is through with its dripping. I saw an adobe house in Santa Fe which was built in the sixteenth century, and so far as I could see, the walls were as strong and good as any house around there."

"Walls are built of stone, plastered with adobe cement, if I may so call it, and such walls are strong and solid. I suppose if that country had half as much rain as falls in Chicago the 'dobe' houses would after a time crumble away, but the average year in New Mexico is made up of 187 days of unclouded sky, 189 days when sunshine predominates and only 39 days of cloud, so that the rainfall does not amount to much more than a good sized fall of dew."

It is estimated that an adobe house costs about $100 a room, but there are mansions built of this material which cost not less than $30,000 to construct. When the "Americans" settled in New Mexico, Utah, Arizona, Nevada and the lower part of California they accepted the prehistoric condition of the country and built their houses of 'dobe mud.'—Chicago Record.

Kentucky's Names. Kentucky is known as the Corn Cracker State, from a game bird enjoying the same name which was formerly found in great abundance in most parts of the state. It is also called the Blue Grass State, from the belt of land running through the center in which this variety of grass grows to great perfection. In the early days of our history it was known as the Dark and Bloody Ground, being so termed by the Indians. It was then a debatable land between the Indians living north of the Ohio and those living in the mountains of Tennessee and Georgia, a sort of battleground for these tribes, which fact gave it the name long before it was settled by the whites.

He simply rolls his trousers up above his knees, digs down in a favored ditch or pond until he strikes the "dobe mud," and in a short time he is ready to begin constructive operations.

Adobe houses are brick houses, but the brick is sun dried and made with straw. The clay or mud of which the brick is made is a natural cement peculiar to the arid plains of New Mexico, Arizona, Nevada and that belt of states and territories. It is turned out in the most primitive manner, and the blue island brickmaker who might happen upon a half breed or Mexican "dobe" brickmaker would view the operation with amusement or disgust. Kiln burned brick, made of blue clay, however, would not meet the requirements imposed by the climatic conditions of those countries where adobe brick is used.

In summer an adobe house is cool; in winter it is warm. Its thick walls absorb the occasional rain, and, although the sun dried brick is soft compared to the kiln dried article, it does not crumble, and it stands for ages.

A man who recently traveled through New Mexico was much interested in the "dobe" houses. For weeks he inquired and searched for a "dobe" house in the hands of the builders. At length in Santa Fe he stumbled upon a couple of men stamping with their bare feet upon clay in a wooden frame. He inquired and found that he was looking upon two Mexicans making adobe brick. In describing the process he said: "The men actually dug up the 'dole' mud from the bottom of the ditch which skirted the road. They mixed it, or, as we say, 'tempered' it with water until it was of a stiff, clayey consistency. Then they chopped alfalfa hay into short pieces and mixed it with the clay, and their material was ready to make into brick. A wood frame lay on the ground. This frame was filled with the 'dole' mud mixed with hay, and one of the men got into the frame and stamped the mud down with his bare feet, at the same time tamping it with a stick. After the frame was packed hard he scraped the surplus mud off with a stick, so that the top surface was level with the upper edges of the frame, and then lifting the frame from the clay he carried the brick to one side of the road and stood it on its edge. The next brick he made he leaned against the first one, and soon he had a dozen large bricks—each twice as wide and long and thick as an ordinary brick—drying in the sun. One of the men told me that the bricks would be ready to lay in three or four days, and that they used the mud which the bricks are made of for the plaster."

"The walls of an adobe house are very thick, sometimes two or three feet, and in the ordinary one story adobe house, which is characteristic of that region, they are built up perfectly plain until they reach the roof. The roof is supported on wooden beams, laid edgewise on the walls, and the bricks are built up level with the top of the beams between the timbers, leaving the edge of the rafters exposed. The roof has a slight slant, and is made of adobe bricks. When it rains, the water soaks into the roof bricks, but does not begin to drip down into the rooms below until the rain is over. Then the family moves out until the water is through with its dripping. I saw an adobe house in Santa Fe which was built in the sixteenth century, and so far as I could see, the walls were as strong and good as any house around there."

"Walls are built of stone, plastered with adobe cement, if I may so call it, and such walls are strong and solid. I suppose if that country had half as much rain as falls in Chicago the 'dobe' houses would after a time crumble away, but the average year in New Mexico is made up of 187 days of unclouded sky, 189 days when sunshine predominates and only 39 days of cloud, so that the rainfall does not amount to much more than a good sized fall of dew."

It is estimated that an adobe house costs about $100 a room, but there are mansions built of this material which cost not less than $30,000 to construct. When the "Americans" settled in New Mexico, Utah, Arizona, Nevada and the lower part of California they accepted the prehistoric condition of the country and built their houses of 'dobe mud.'—Chicago Record.

Kentucky's Names. Kentucky is known as the Corn Cracker State, from a game bird enjoying the same name which was formerly found in great abundance in most parts of the state. It is also called the Blue Grass State, from the belt of land running through the center in which this variety of grass grows to great perfection. In the early days of our history it was known as the Dark and Bloody Ground, being so termed by the Indians. It was then a debatable land between the Indians living north of the Ohio and those living in the mountains of Tennessee and Georgia, a sort of battleground for these tribes, which fact gave it the name long before it was settled by the whites.

The progressive ladies of Westfield Ind. issued "Woman's Edition" of the Westfield News bearing date of April 3, 1896. The paper is filled with matter of interest to women, and we notice the following from a correspondent, which the editors printed, realizing that it treats upon a matter of vital importance to their sex: "The best remedy for croup, colds and bronchitis that I have been able to find is Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. For family use it has no equal. I gladly recommend it." 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by C. W. Milhouse.

Sick Headache.

Neuralgia and Extreme Nervousness.

EVER since I was eighteen years old until I learned of Dr. Miles' Restorative Remedies, I suffered from sick headache and extreme nervousness and dyspepsia. In time heart disease developed. I was treated by several doctors with no relief. Severe palpitation with pain in left breast, shortness of breath, and smothering spells made me most miserable. I procured Dr. Miles' Restorative Nerve and Heart Cure and took them alternately as directed. Improvement began at once and increased so rapidly that inside of six months I increased thirty six pounds in weight. All pain in the heart is gone, and the nervousness has wholly left me.

PRESIDENT HARRISON's last message contained the statement that $40,570, 467 had been paid on the national debt. Cleveland doesn't show any such a record but the incoming administration will probably renew business in that line.

The ways and means committee last night discussed the matter of appropriations for the state institutions. The general feeling was that the appropriations should not be increased. This is right. These institutions have shown that they can be carried on liberally with the amounts appropriated two years ago, by careful and economical management and that is what the taxpayers of the state want.

The selection of General Alger for secretary of war will give general satisfaction. He has a good record as a Union soldier and is a man of business affairs. In 1884 he was elected governor of Michigan and his administration was regarded as highly successful. He has served one term as commander-in-chief of the G. A. R. and is highly respected by the veterans and by his friends in Michigan. His campaigning tour with the generals' party last fall brought him prominently before many of our people.

PRESIDENT-ELECT McKINLEY's cabinet making has been closely watched by the people all over the country. It is evident that he is making his own cabinet and that he is doing it so as to give the country an administration that will command the respect and confidence of the people. The selection of a cabinet is the first opportunity the public has to judge of the president's ability and judgment by this standard McKinley has met the test remarkably well. His selections make this far inspire confidence that his administration will be marked by the same high ability.

COMMENTING on the selection of Lyman T. Gage for secretary of the treasury, the Canton Repository says: "Mr. Gage is not only a great financier, but he is in entire accord with Major McKinley on all questions of governmental policy, and will command the attention of congress and the country in the immediate future and during his administration. Easily the foremost citizen of Chicago, no private citizen of Illinois commands such universal respect or possesses in such a marked degree the esteem of the people of Illinois. Although a modest and somewhat retiring citizen, he has nevertheless always been active in great affairs and is well known for his public spirit broad views and growing liberality. * * * He is a staunch broad-gauged practical business man, and his selection at this juncture is of decided and positive benefit to the country."

McKINLEY'S AMBITION.

Under this caption the Commercial Tribune closes an editorial with the following paragraph:

The upbuilding influence of such an administration is already felt, even before it exists. The people are reassured. Through the whole vast fabric of our industrial life there is extending a justified belief that in a little while there will be at the head of affairs a man with the highest of all human ambitions, the ambition to restore prosperity to the people.

A public library is a potent factor in the progress and improvement of a city. Seymour has made a good beginning and we believe our citizens will give liberal support to the efforts of the committee to still further increase our library facilities.

THE STATE UNIVERSITY.

It is a matter of the greatest importance that our legislature should economize in all matters of public expense as far as possible, and as far as is consistent with the public needs and welfare. In doing this it is proper to consider the demands of the state university. This institution requires a large amount of money annually to sustain it, and the demand is increasing. The demand of the present legislature for an additional amount of money is likely to meet with a refusal and it is right too. Under the present condition of educational affairs the question arises as to whether the people of the state have any further need for the state university. It seems that the time has passed when it can longer be a necessity, or even a public convenience.

There are now several colleges and universities in the state where tuition is practically, as free as it is at Bloomington. The faculties of these schools are supported from the proceeds of an endowment fund that has been provided by the friends of these schools. Their buildings and all their scientific apparatus and other equipment have been furnished from the same source. The equipments of these schools is being made better all the time through private donations and bequests and efficiency is becoming greater year by year. There is no lack of opportunities now for the young people of the state to acquire as complete and thorough classical and scientific education in any of these schools as can be had at Bloomington, as free to them as it is at any of the state schools and that too without expense to the already over taxed people of the state.

While it is true these schools are under the management of the various religious denominations, yet it is also true that they are all practically non-sectarian, so far as any attempt made by the faculty or officers of the school to proselytize the students of other denominations to their particular creed, or faith, is concerned.

The apology for the further continuance of the State University is that the other schools are all sectarian and we ought to have one non-sectarian school. So far as that is concerned the advocates of a non-sectarian school, one that is strictly so, have an undoubted right to have such a school, but they ought to have one supported by their own private liberality and enterprise, and not call upon the state to support it for them.

As long as Bloomington can resort to the state treasury for funds for support, to build up and maintain a stupendous school, but if no better practical use, or efficiency than the other schools already in existence in many parts of the state, they operate as a hindrance to the work and development of these other schools.

If there were no other way to keep up a university in our state, where the most liberal and thorough education could be had than to keep it up at the public expense, then no one I suppose would be in favor of withholding the most liberal appropriations for that purpose. But such is not the case now and the time has fully come when further support from the public treasury to the state university at Bloomington should in future be discontinued. As it now is, it is being made an overshadowing veil and competitor of all the other schools in the state, to their great disadvantage, and with no compensating advantage to the state.

Twelve-Year-Old Boy Throat Head First Into a Red-hot Furnace.

ANDERSON, Ind., Jan. 30.—Peter Able was placed under arrest last night for a horrible deed. He became enraged at Valdisio Kunkowski, his 12-year-old helper at the Pennsylvania glass works, and knocking the boy down, he grabbed him and thrust him headfirst into the furnace, where glass sand was melting under intense heat. He was only held there a moment, but the result was horrible. The boy cannot recover, it is thought. His head, face and chest are cooked and his eyes are in a horrible shape.

OUR MAKERS OF LAW

Bills on Second Reading Occupy the Attention of Both Houses.

VISIT TO PUBLIC INSTITUTIONS.

Announcement Made That Hereafter Both Branches Will Work Six Days a Week. Committees Report on Several Measures—Amendments Offered to the Barrett Street Improvement Law.

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 30.—After putting in a full day Friday the legislature adjourned until Monday, most of the members devoting today to visits of inspection to the benevolent and educational institutions. The announcement is made that hereafter both branches will remain in session six days a week, though it is not likely that committees will continue their work until midnight every night as they have during the past two weeks. The day in both houses Friday was occupied with second readings and though some bills were killed none were passed.

Much of the time of the house was spent upon dogs and marriages. The dog subject came up when a bill by Mr. Remington overhauling the whole dog tax question so as to make it somewhat more binding was handed down on second reading. Mr. East offered an amendment to the bill striking out the clause that the dog license be advertised. He said this useless provision cost the county of Brown $400 a year. Mr. Babcock, who is a large and successful sheep farmer, wanted an amendment requiring all owners of dogs to keep them inclosed or chained from 9 o'clock at night until daylight. After general discussion the bill was recommitted.

The next discussion arose over Mr. James' bill adding mayors of cities to the list of people authorized to solemnize marriages. Mr. East offered an amendment to add notary publics to the list, but the amendment was voted down and the bill engrossed as originally amended.

The house bill permitting boards of trustees of incorporated towns to levy a tax of 50 cents on $100 for the purpose of purchasing waterworks was engrossed and on motion of the author, it was taken up for passage under suspension of the rules. It seemed strange to some members that a bill of such general importance should go through this stage without discussion and Mr. Smith gave a note of warning and Mr. Harris opposed the bill. Mr. Smith moved a reconsideration of the vote by which the rules were suspended and this was carried by consent and the bill was engrossed.

Among the bills on second reading ordered engrossed was an amendment to the libel law offered by Mr. Blankenship and Mr. Goddard's bill requiring a joint meeting of county commissioners for the construction of a bridge upon county lines.

Committee Reports. INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 30.—Friday was committee day in the house and a number of reports were handed in. The ways and means committee reported upon three bills, for the exemption of mortgage property from taxation, one by Mr. Lambert, another by Butler, and another by Reynolds. All the reports were concurred in by the house. This cleans up the docket for mortgage exemption bills. The judiciary committee reported unfavorably on Mr. Nicholson's divorce bill and it died. It also reported favorably upon Mr. Wair's bill repealing the special verdict law. The railroad committee reported an amendment to Mr. East's bill requiring railroad companies to permit connecting switches by any road of a mile or more in length so as to make it 50 miles.

Barrett Law Amendment. INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 30.—An amendment to the Barrett law proposed for cities and towns of less than 10,000 population has been referred to the committee on cities and towns. The amendment proposes that contemplated street improvements must originate by petition of half of the resident property holders, measured by front-foot ownership.

Medical Measure Concurred In. INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 30.—The senate health committee Friday reported favorably upon the bill drawn by the Indiana Medical society regulating the practice of medicine, creating a state board of medical examiners and licensing physicians and the report was concurred in.

Mechanics Lien Law. INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 30.—Several bills have been introduced in both houses repealing the amendments to the mechanics lien law. The object is to secure a restoration of the old section, which required notice before a lien could be filed.

Anti-Football Bill. INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 30.—The house Friday advanced to engrossment without discussion the anti-football bill.

GENERAL STATE NEWS.

John Cochran Arrested on the Belief That He Murdered Frank Redmond. FRANKLIN, Ind., Jan. 30.—John Cochran was arrested here yesterday for the murder of Frank Redmond at Indianapolis last Friday. He has been under quiet surveillance by the police for some days. He exactly fits the description of the murderer, and it is known that he was in Indianapolis last Friday, he having borrowed an overcoat to wear up there.

Killed by a Passenger Train. VINCENNES, Ind., Jan. 30.—Katie and Dotie Miller, aged 15 and 17, while crossing the Baltimore and Northwest river tracks last evening were struck and instantly killed by a passenger train.

HOW TO FIND OUT.

Fill a bottle or common water glass with urine and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates a diseased condition of the kidneys. When urine stains linen it is positive evidence of kidney trouble. Too frequent desire to urinate or pain in the back, is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

What to do. There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy fulfills every wish in relieving pain in back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passages. It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain passing it or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to get up many times during the night to urinate. The mild and extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists price fifty cents and one dollar. For a sample bottle and pamphlet, both sent free by mail, mention the Seymour Republican, and send your full post-office address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The proprietors of this paper guarantee its genuineness.

Mothers whose children are troubled with bad colds, croup or whooping-cough will do well to read what Dr. R. E. Robey, of Olney, Mo., says on this subject. He writes: "For years we have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and always kept it in the house. It is so guarded in our family as a specific for all kinds of colds and coughs. SUGAR BEETS.

Farmers Urged to Make an Experiment in this Direction.

To Indiana Farmers: The committee appointed by the Farmers' National Congress to investigate and promote the beet-sugar industry respectfully recommends to the farmers of Indiana who have any considerable amount of black, rich land to make a test of the same by the growth of a small plot, say half an acre or less, in sugar beets, weighing and keeping an account of the number of tons their land will produce to the acre, selecting an average sample and sending the same to Purdue University for analysis. There will be no waste of money or time involved in making this experiment, as the beets produced will supply the best and cheapest possible food for stock and especially for milch cows. When these tests are made by the farmers of the state and their results made public we can know whether our lands are well adapted to the production of sugar beets, and, if so, we can secure the location and building of sugar beet factories. None but the imported German and French seed should be used. The average product of beets per acre should be ten to twelve tons, and the price paid by the factories is $5 per ton, giving the farmer $50 to $60 gross and $30 to $40 net per acre for his land. The cost of the beet-sugar factory is very great, not less than $300,000 for a factory that can be operated at a profit, and such investment cannot be secured in such plant until the proposed experiment has been made and it has been thoroughly demonstrated that our land and climate is adapted to the production of beets of sufficient sweetness and in sufficient quantity to render the location of a large factory profitable. The United States is paying France and Germany about $130,000,000 annually for sugar, for the production of which their farmers are receiving $30 to $40 per acre for their land, while we are selling them our wheat and corn at a price which yields us but $5 to $6 per acre for our land. The newspapers of the state are requested to give publicity to this and to urge upon all farmers of the state who have black, rich land to join in this experiment. E. B. MARTINDALE, Member of committee for Indiana.

Stranded.

Henry Reader and family, who were traveling from Kentucky to Seymour and passed through the city Tuesday, night he stopped at the town and picked his team consisting of two mules near his vehicle. While the family slept wrapped in all the clothing they had and while the wintry blasts howled through the blue looking rock of the village the mules disappeared, where they have gone no one knows but Reader believes they became cold and wandered away.—Jeffersonville Journal

The Gift of Appreciation.

There is, perhaps, no other natural gift that brings so much genuine pleasure to its possessor as does the keen sense of appreciation. It teaches us, or points out to our understanding, the beauties of nature that are all about us, gifts the commonplace, and emphasizes the joys of life and of living. Appealing to us through all our senses, the pleasures that it brings are ceaseless and unending. Seen through appreciative eyes the beauties of life overshadow and eclipse the homely, rough places. There is an attractive side to everything, and this an appreciative mind will see first, and longest remember.—February Ladies Home Journal.

The Advertising Light.

The man who advertises stands before the public in the full, legitimate and dignified prominence of one who is proud of his business, has a right to be proud of it, is doing a lot of it, and wants to do more of it; and he is the kind of man that everybody wants to do business with, for just so long as the moth will be attracted by the candle light, so long will trade swarm around the advertising light of business.

"South Before the War."

Harry Martell's big southern production, the "South Before the War" is entirely different from anything of its kind, that has been produced. The combination of darkies (big and little) numbering fifty people. The performance embraces a great variety of music, camp meeting scene, buck and wing dancing, superb singing by four quartettes, with a chorus of forty voices, a genuine cake walk, which creates one continuous laughter, and a Pickaninny band of seventeen little darkies. To those of the younger generation who have often heard what a plantation was in ante-bellum days, his play will give a very realistic idea.
